A Special Thank You!

I would like to extend my deepest gratitude to the Eric P. Newman Numismatic Education Society for awarding me their very generous 2019 Newman Grant.

Thank you for helping me toward achieving my goal of developing a currency plate proof census from compiled metadata and making the PDFs available to all.

I am also very grateful to Leonard Augsburger for his knowledge, patience and expert assistance.

I also would like to thank Peter Huntoon for sparking my interest in this fascinating field of endeavor!

I would include "Currency" in the quote below:

There is nothing more fascinating than collecting coins, all history is summed up in them...they are the story of humanity.

W.H. Valentine (1856-1927)

Thank you again for making this possible!

Thank You to everyone at the National Numismatic Collection!

I am extraordinarily appreciative of the digitization team at the National Numismatic Collection led by:

Sherri Berger, Head of Digital Programs Office

Ellen Feingold, Curator of the National Numismatic Collection, Division of Work and Industry

Hillery York, Collections Manager, Division of Work & Industry

and Jennifer Gloede , Outreach and Collections Specialist

The museum has a program called the Friends of the NNC that provide funds to various digitization and education projects that are a priority for the numismatic community and the department.

If you would like more information about the program you can find it here: <http://americanhistory.si.edu/giving/friends-of-numismatics>

Overview of the Smithsonian's 2014 "Rapid Capture" digitization program.

The National Numismatic Collection began a pioneering "Rapid Capture" digitization process in October 2014. The project was designed to digitize the certified proof sheets from the Bureau of Engraving and Printing collection. The proofs were transferred to the National Numismatic Collection from the 1960s and 1980s. The scanning process utilized a conveyor belt system with a huge 80 megapixel image camera to capture the items as quickly as possible. The process was much more effective compared to the older way using just a flatbed scanner. The Rapid Capture group photographed around 3,500 sheets daily. It cost less than a dollar a sheet. It was completed in only four and a half months. This project establishes a valuable resource for currency researcher and students.

LIBERTY LOAN CERTIFIED PLATE PROOF CENSUS

The Liberty Loan Bonds & Victory Notes of 1917 - 1923

Immediately upon the declaration of war by the United States on April 6, 1917, the problem of financing the country's share in the struggle leaped to the fore in Congress. The outstanding portion of the question was whether a greater part of the cost of the war should be met by taxation or bonds, or if the cost should be evenly divided between the two.

Secretary William McAdoo, after extended conference with leading financial experts, maintained that a greater part of the money should come from the sale of bonds. He held that it would be unwise, if not impossible, to inflict such a heavy tax burden on the present generation. The "half and half plan," that is, dividing the war's cost equally between taxation and bonds, had many proponents. Eventually, however, it was decided as an initial step to authorize the issuance of $5,000,000,000 in bonds, not over $3,000,000,000 of which should be applied to loans to the Allies and take up the tax problem later.

This authorization was approved by President Wilson on April 24, 1917. A few days later Secretary McAdoo announced that he would offer for subscription, beginning May 14 and continuing until June 15, $2,000,000,000 in Liberty Bonds. The bonds were to bear 3 1/2 per cent interest.

The number of subscribers was so great that the facilities of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing were utterly inadequate to turn out the bonds promptly. Therefore, interim certificates, representing completed subscriptions to the first Liberty loan, had been issued through the Federal reserve banks were furnished to the Federal reserve banks for delivery to subscribers as payments upon subscriptions were made. These were in the form of bearer obligations, redeemable upon presentation to the Federal reserve bank of issue, by the delivery of a definitive bond. The number of these certificates issued aggregated 7,672,560—2,145,885 part-paid certificates and 5,526,675 full-paid certificates. These interim certificates were receipts by the Secretary of the Treasury for payments on allotted subscriptions but were not valid until executed by a Federal reserve bank as fiscal agent of the United States.

FIRST LIBERTY LOAN CERTIFIED PLATE PROOFS

The occasion for the issue of these interim certificates was the vast volume of work thrown suddenly on the Bureau of Engraving and Printing by the first Liberty loan. At the time of the issue of these regulations the engraving of the definitive bonds had, many months before, reached the point at which deliveries could be made immediately on presentation of the interim certificates.

Consequently, there was incorporated in the regulations a statement that a reasonable time had elapsed for the presentation of such certificates, and authority was given to the Federal reserve banks to require holders presenting certificates thereafter to establish identity with the original subscriber or title from the original subscriber. This notice was publicly given in order to protect those who might otherwise be moved to purchase these overdue obligations from a thief or finder.

The first Liberty loan of 1932-1947, bearing interest at the rate of 3 1/2 per cent, and the Victory notes were the only issues made in permanent form having coupons to maturity attached. As a rule, the loans issued in temporary form had four coupons attached.

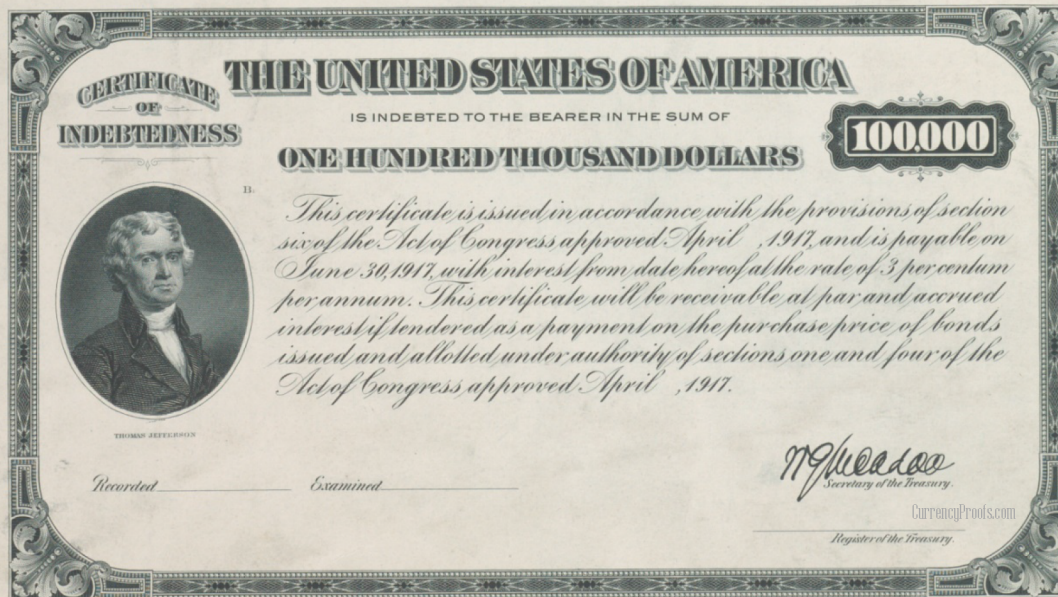

These temporary loans were issued to meet the urgent needs resulting from the stress of war-time emergencies when the chief object was to deliver the securities in some convenient form into the hands of the public and every facility and time-saving method practical was employed with this end in view.

With respect to the direct part played by certificates of indebtedness in our war financing, the course of Treasury operations from the period just before our entry into the war up to the present time may be distinguished into thirteen periods, as follows:

Period	Date	Treasury Operations
1917
1.	March 31-April 21	Certificate issue in anticipation of 1917 income taxes
2.	April 25-June 8	Certificate issues in anticipation of First Liberty Loan
3.	June 15-June 30	First Liberty Loan
4.	June 30-August 9	Reliance on net proceeds of First Liberty Loan
5.	August 9-October 24	Certificate issues in anticipation of Second Liberty Loan
6.	October 27-November 20	Second Liberty Loan
7.	November 20-January 2	Reliance on net proceeds of Second Liberty Loan; certificate issues in anticipation of 1918 income and excess profits taxes
1918
8.	January 2-April 22	Certificate issues in anticipation of Third Liberty Loan
9.	May 4-May 28	Third Liberty Loan
10.	May 28-June 25	Reliance on net proceeds of Third Liberty Loan
11.	June 25-October 1	Certificate issues in anticipation of Fourth Liberty Loan; certificate issue in anticipation of 1919 income and excess profits taxes
12.	October 19-October 24	Fourth Liberty Loan
13.	October 24-December 5	Reliance on net proceeds of Fourth Liberty Loan

FIRST LIBERTY LOAN CERTIFIED PLATE PROOFS

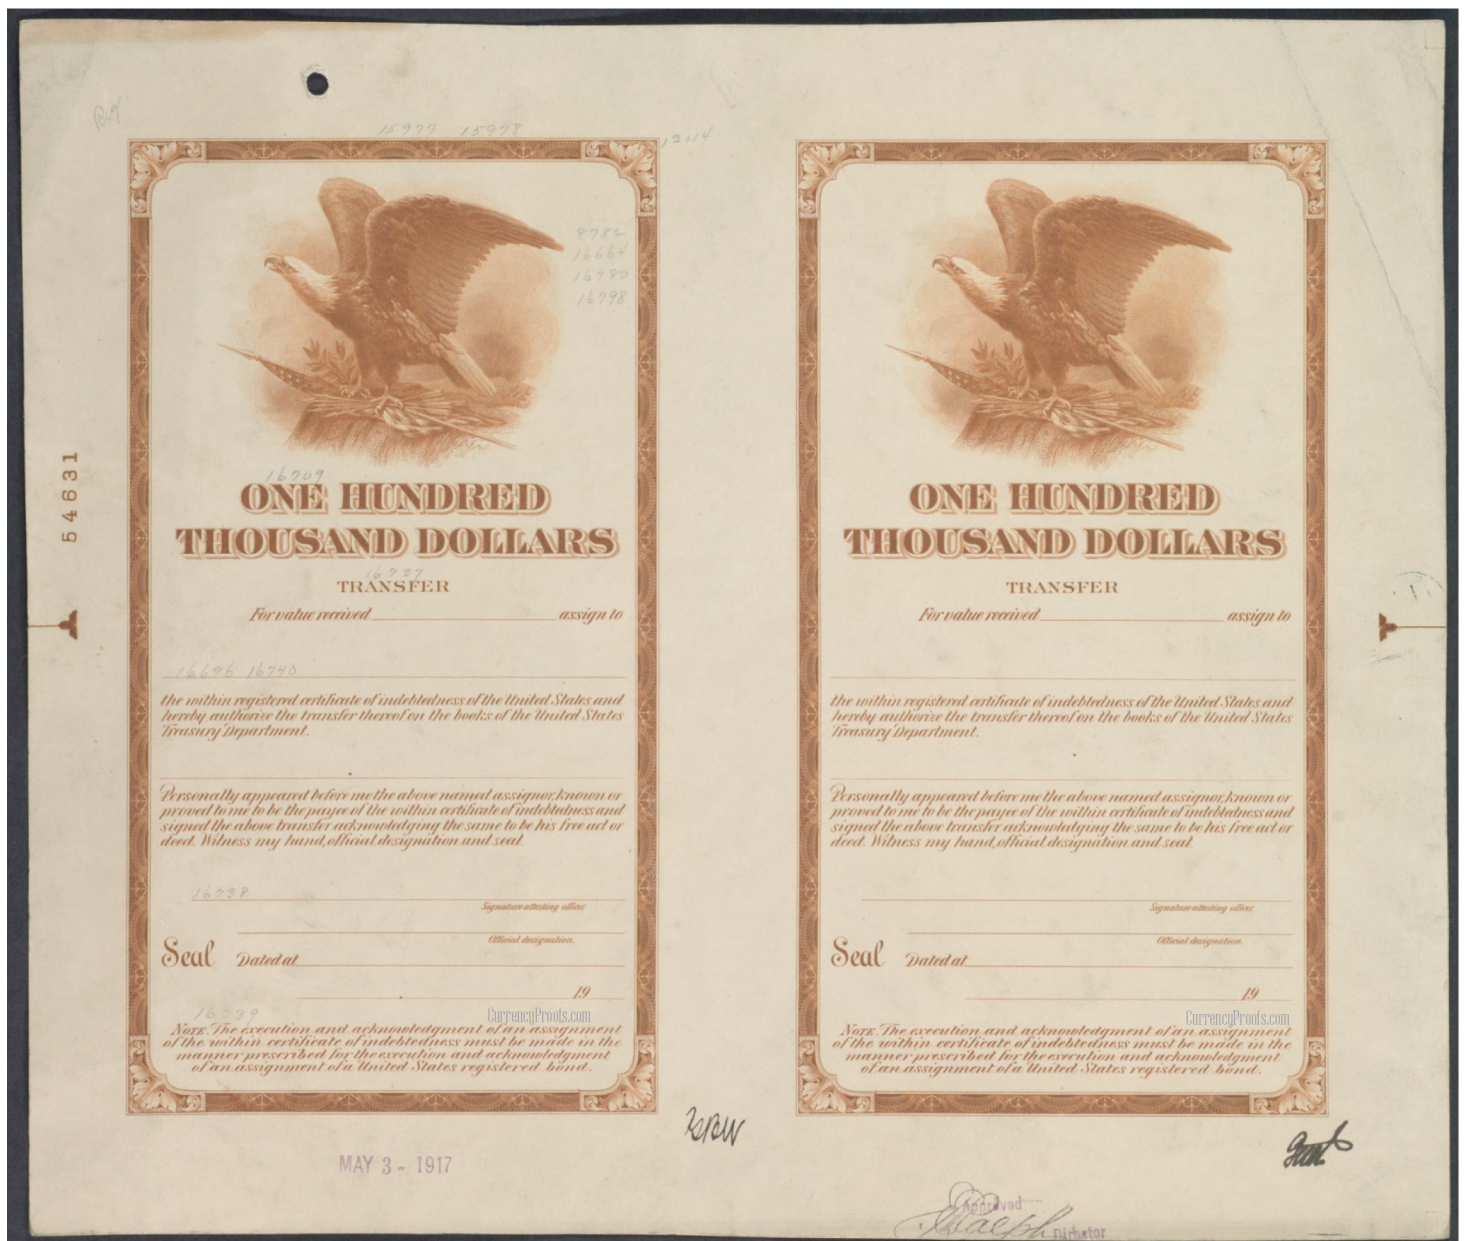

These thirteen periods may obviously be arranged, after an ante-bellum prelude, into four like cycles, each constituted of (a) a period of anticipatory certificate issues, successive issues of certificates of indebtedness in anticipation of the proceeds of a prospective loan, (b) the flotation of a Liberty Loan and (c) the use of the net proceeds of the Loan.

FIRST LIBERTY LOAN CERTIFIED PLATE PROOF CENSUS

In the interim between the close of the First Loan and the opening of the Second, on October 1, 1917, there was much lobbying, particularly in financial circles, for an increase in the interest rate on Liberty Bonds, some persons insisting that the rate should go as high as 4 1/2 or 5 per cent. After careful consideration it was decided by Congress to increase the rate to 4 per cent, but to impose certain tax restrictions on the bonds. On September 27, 1917 the Secretary announced that he would offer "$3,000,000,000 or more" in Liberty Bonds for subscription.

First 4 1/4's, Second 4's, Third 4 1/4's, First-Second 4 1/4's & Fourth 4 1/4's

The coupon and registered forms of these issues are printed 6 bonds to the sheet, the coupon bonds including 4 coupons with each of the headpieces. They are printed on paper 18 1/2 by 20 inches, having 6 rows of localized fiber. Each sheet has a plate-printed impression on the back and face.

The form for all these issues was a standardized one. An overprinting in black of story, signatures, etc., and one in color for numbering, sealing, denomination, title, etc., appear on the face of each form of these issues. The measurement of both the coupon and registered bonds is 6 1/2 by 9 inches.

These bonds are all alike except as to titles, interest payments, dates and color of overprinting on face, as follows:

First Liberty Loan Converted 4 1/4 per cent gold bonds of 1932-1947	Blue
First Liberty Loan Converted 4 1/4 per cent gold bonds of 1932-1947	Purple
